The Love Campus

Practical ideas. Kind humor. Everyday relationships.

The Love Campus brings practical ideas and kind humor to dating, marriage, and family life. Its three colleges - The Dating College, The Marriage College, and The Family College - offer books, quizzes, and online learning built around the ordinary moments that shape relationships. Subjects include first conversations, everyday communication, shared responsibilities, parenting, and staying curious about the people closest to us. The academic identity gives the brand a playful structure: lectures, field guides, quizzes, and novelty awards make room for laughter alongside reflection. Readers and learners can explore material relevant to their own stage of life, or choose a thoughtful gift for someone they care about. The Love Campus provides independent education and entertainment. Its content is not therapy, and its certificates are novelty awards rather than accredited qualifications. Journalists, editors, bloggers, and media professionals can request product information, interviews, approved images, or review copies through the press team.

Copy-ready short description

The Love Campus is an independent education and entertainment brand for dating, marriage, and family life. Its three colleges offer practical books, playful quizzes, and online learning with kind humor. The Dating College, The Marriage College, and The Family College help make everyday relationship conversations more approachable, thoughtful, and useful.

Media inquiries

For interviews, approved images, product information, or review copies, contact press@thelovecampus.com. Include your publication, topic, and deadline. Requests are evaluated by the press team.

Independent education and entertainment. Content is not therapy. Certificates are novelty awards, not accredited qualifications.

One Campus. Three colleges.

The Dating College

The Dating College brings practical ideas and kind humor to dating, from an honest profile and a first conversation to consent, rejection, and building a connection. Its books and online courses are for adults who are dating, starting again, or becoming a couple.

Online program: Dating, with Honors.
https://thedatingcollege.com

The Marriage College

The Marriage College explores the everyday work of a life together through humorous books, quizzes, and online learning. Topics include communication, appreciation, shared responsibilities, and staying curious about a partner. Its approach makes room for practical conversations as well as the occasional affectionate joke.

Online program: Marriage University
https://themarriagecollege.com

The Family College

The Family College offers practical ideas and kind humor for family life, including parenting, co-parenting, shared responsibilities, extended family, and changing life stages. Its books, family quizzes, and online learning invite reflection and conversation across many kinds of families.

Online program: Family Life, with Honors.
https://thefamilycollege.com

Course availability and access options are shown on the official college sites. Awards are novelty achievements, not accredited qualifications.

The Dating College reading list

The Field Guide for Dating

A practical, humorous book for adults who are dating or starting again. Thirty short lectures cover profiles, first dates, communication, consent, and becoming a couple.

PDF and EPUB; see the product page for current purchasing and paperback options.

Official product information

The Pop Quiz for Dating

A playful quiz book for singles, new couples, and friends. Ten rounds and 325 questions turn dating habits and expectations into conversation.

PDF and EPUB; see the product page for current options.

Official product information

High-resolution original covers and individual HTML/text factsheets are supplied in this kit. Contact the press team for review-copy requests.

The Marriage College reading list

The Field Guide for Husbands

Thirty humorous, practical lectures on listening, apologies, everyday thoughtfulness, sharing responsibilities, and staying curious about a partner.

Third edition; PDF and EPUB; see the product page for current purchasing and paperback options.

Official product information

The Field Guide for Wives

Thirty humorous, practical lectures on clear communication, appreciation, sharing the load, affection, and maintaining individuality within a shared life.

First edition; PDF and EPUB; see the product page for current purchasing and paperback options.

Official product information

The Pop Quiz for Couples

A quiz book for two people: ten rounds, a Final Exam, 332 questions, puzzles, and conversation prompts about everyday life together.

First edition; PDF and EPUB; see the product page for current options.

Official product information

High-resolution original covers and individual HTML/text factsheets are supplied in this kit. Contact the press team for review-copy requests.

The Family College reading list

The Field Guide for Families

Thirty short, humorous lectures on family life, from preparing for a new arrival to shared responsibilities, teenagers, extended family, and aging parents.

First edition; PDF and EPUB; see the product page for current purchasing and paperback options.

Official product information

The Pop Quiz for Families

A quiz book for families with children ages eight and up. Nine rounds, a Final Exam, and 300 questions provide playful opportunities to talk and learn about one another.

First edition; PDF and EPUB; see the product page for current options.

Official product information

High-resolution original covers and individual HTML/text factsheets are supplied in this kit. Contact the press team for review-copy requests.

Brand assets and editorial use

Reproduce with confidence

Use the supplied original logos and book covers. Keep proportions, artwork, titles, and brand names intact. Leave clear space around crests and use a plain light background. Do not redraw, distort, or imply endorsement.

Editorial permission

Logos and covers may identify the relevant brand or product in editorial coverage of The Love Campus. Credit the owning college / The Love Campus. This permission does not cover merchandise, paid advertising, resale, or redistribution of complete books. Ask the press team about other uses.

Brand colors

Navy #102740 | Paper #FAF9F6 | Champagne #D9BB7C
Dating #A8462E | Marriage #842C47 | Family #3D6A4E

Keep facts current

This edition was prepared October 24, 2026. Confirm prices, availability, and format details with the official product pages or press team before publication. The kit includes no sales figures, founder biography, therapeutic claims, or app availability claims. The Family College SVG contains the approved raster crest.

Independent education and entertainment. Content is not therapy. Certificates are novelty awards, not accredited qualifications.